National Health Advocates Meeting: Serving African American Communities

The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services invite you to join us for a half-day session to focus on how the Affordable Care Act will improve quality and services to Medicare, Medicaid, and CHIP beneficiaries in African American communities. CMS' National Health Advocates Meeting offers policy-based guidance, health resources, training and tools to equip organizations on the front lines of health care in African American communities. The event provides networking opportunities, best practices, research and data, overviews of current programs and initiatives, and opportunities to get involved.

With a focus on health care, CMS facilitates collaborative partnerships to advance the health of all populations working with national, federal, state, and local organizations. CMS' African American Partnership Program seeks to facilitate collaborations between these organizations to better serve minority communities.
